Herold Levente Kiraly

SOFTWARE DEVELOPER

Profile

I have always been fascinated by technology and have decided to pursue a career as a software engineer, something I have dabbled in as a hobby in the past. I have spent the past couple of years working in B2C sales and business management, where I have gained experience working directly with clients to ensure that jobs were completed on time and to their standards. In early 2021, I decided to take a break for a career change and spent the past two years learning and exploring software development.
